

Rheta Grimsley Johnson

Celebrated columnist, Rheta Grimsley Johnson, will be promoting her memoir, Poor Man's Provence: Finding Myself in Cajun Country, at the Main Library on Wednesday, November 19, at 7:00 p.m. Following the presentation, Johnson will sign copies of the book.

For over a decade, Johnson spent several months a year in southwest Louisiana working and falling in love with the culture. She finally purchased a home in Henderson and began to put down roots. Poor Man's Provence follows her journey in Cajun Country.

A native of Colquitt, Georgia, Johnson grew up in Montgomery, Alabama and studied journalism at Auburn University. She has covered the South for over three decades as a newspaper reporter and columnist. Her reporting has won numerous awards and her syndicated column appears in fifty papers nationwide.

Library Awarded the BIG READ GRANT

The National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) continues its drive toward making the Big Read the largest federal reading program in U.S. history. As such, the NEA has awarded the East Baton Rouge Parish Library another $20,000 grant for "The Big Read: One Book/One Community" program. The Big Read is an initiative of the National Endowment for the Arts in partnership with the Institute of Museum and Library Services and Arts Midwest. It is designed to restore reading to the center of American culture. The Big Read brings together partners across the country to encourage reading for pleasure and enlightenment. The Big Read also addresses the national decline in literary reading as documented in the NEA's 2004 landmark survey Reading at Risk: A Survey of Literary Reading in America.

In its inaugural year 2007, the NEA launched the Big Read nationally in partnership with the Institute of Museum and Library Services and in cooperation with Arts Midwest. More than 70 organizations participated. This year the library is one of 208 libraries, municipalities, and arts, culture, higher education, and science organizations to receive a grant to host a Big Read celebration. "With this latest round of grants, I am proud to say that The Big Read has supported more than 500 public library partnerships," said Anne-Imelda M. Radice, Director of the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS), the NEA's lead federal partner for The Big Read. "Through this program, public libraries continue to demonstrate their value in communities as centers of engagement, literacy, and lifelong learning. I am particularly delighted by the innovative public programming born out of library and museum collaborations."

Storytime at the Library

Storytime gives children an excellent introduction to books and the library, increases their attention spans, and develops their social skills by involving them in stories, poetry, and songs. The Children's Services staff hopes Storytime will be an enjoyable experience for each child, leading to a lifelong love of books and reading.

You are always welcome to attend Storytime with your child. We offer six different Storytime formats. Since children develop at different rates, you may talk with one of our library staff members to place your child in a younger or older group. Call your local library for more information. Organized groups must reserve a date and time other than those listed below.
