SPARK & FUNdamentals

FUNdamentals of Making and Tinkering with STEAM

Full-Day Workshop

For PreK – 3rd grade educators

Join nationally recognized author and educator, Cate Heroman, along with a team of multi-faceted experts in this highly interactive, one-day workshop on STEAM-rich making and tinkering. During this workshop, you will:

Explore three aspects of maker-centered learning (tinkering, making, and engineering) and learn how to introduce and develop each with children in Pre-K through 3rd grade.

Experience low tech, high tech, and no tech tinkering activities as a "learner" and then consider ways to incorporate them into your daily classroom practice.

Engage in first-hand tinkering with STEAM-rich activities that can be integrated into your curriculum.

Participate in design challenges linked to the problems characters face in children's storybooks.

Learn strategies for creating an environment that inspires children to think creatively, take risks, and solve problems.
